

JANE SLADE

I was brought up in and have lived all my life in village communities. Twenty years ago I moved to Bodicote and have enjoyed the welcoming community spirit. With a background in farming and horses the countryside is important to me and I feel it is vital to endeavour to maintain and protect the privilege of access to the beautiful countryside around Bodicote village. Becoming a member of the parish council has meant that I have been able to help support ongoing village amenities in a practical way and also initiate positive changes that continue to make Bodicote the friendly and community minded parish that it is.
